You Are Invited To A Birthday Party Saturday

Joanne Nix reading final instructions to her lovely models for the Fashion Show at the Youth Center on Saturday at 2:30 o'clock.

—PHOTOGRAPH BY GEORGE CAIN.

You are invited to the First Anniversary Party of the Carmel Youth Center tomorrow, to join the teenagers—free of charge—in a big Open House celebration. At 2:30 o'clock the Fashion Show and Tea begins with a parade of boy and girl mannequins who will display young set fashions from Carmel shops with a sangfroid that comes of their professional coaching by Joanne Nix. A large white cake and other refreshments will be served by the boys. Master of ceremonies is Rod Coupe.

A dance with 14-piece orchestra will be on hand from 8:00 to 12:00 o'clock. One feature of the dance is a drawing to award custodianship of a portable radio, by a drawing from the "shares" which are to be sold five-for-a-dollar at the dance. Proceeds of the shares sale will go toward a back fence for the Youth Center. There will be a snack bar open during the evening.

Here's Where To Sign Petitions For Tax Repeal

Over 100 signatures on the initiative petitions for repeal of the city sales tax were obtained in the first days the petitions have been available in Carmel. People wishing to sign the petition, which would require the city council to put the half cent city sales tax up for special election, will find them at the following places of business: The Stocking Shop, Carmel Art Shop, Carmel Hardware, Parsons of Carmel, Carmel Laundry, Forge in the Forest, Carmel Woodworking Company, May Cleaners and Sunset Nursery.

Committee for Repeal of the Sales Tax has taken the initiative action on the principal that the sales tax is unnecessary, and that the city government can carry on its usual functions without increase in expenditures.

Interesting sidelight, according to Francis Whitaker, chairman of the Repeal Committee, is that many shoppers are from outside the city limits and cannot sign, or are from other towns where the sales tax has been put over. Most favorable reaction "is from the real out-of-towners who think it is wonderful that an effort is being made to knock the sales tax out", Whitaker says, adding, "Repeal of (Continued on Page Sixteen)"

Delbert Wermuth Wounded In Action

Delbert Samuel Wermuth, Jr., Private First Class, of the Marine Corps Reserve has been wounded in action on Sept. 28, in the Korean area, according to word received yesterday by his wife, Mrs. Delbert Wermuth, Jr. of Carmel. Details have not yet been received.

Delbert graduated from Carmel High School in 1945, and went into the Marine Corps soon after. He was on active duty on the Korean front when wounded. He and his wife, and daughter, Connie, 14 months, make their home on Dolores and Fifth Streets. Delbert's sister, Clare Olive, his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Delbert Samuel Wermuth Sr., and his uncle, Earl Wermuth, live in Carmel.

Our Wonderful Kids

A financial report presented to the adult board of the Youth Center recently brings out facts that should make us all proud of the independence our kids have shown. By charging themselves small fees, they have paid for the operation costs of their pool tables, their dances and their movie shows. Their membership fund has covered costs of other activities. And from June 1950 to June 1951 they raised $5204, which they turned over to the adult board to be used for defraying overhead and capital costs. The breakdown: $637 raised by the Dollar Day in which the local merchants participated generously; $100 from the Hildegard Concert; $986 from the Youth Follies of 1950, and $1292 from the Follies of 1951. Their Basketball Tournament netted $219; the Freddy Martin Concert and Dance, $1500; luncheon for the service clubs when the center had its opening, $565.—W. C.

Work Underway On New Parking Lot On Dolores Street

By October 15, August R. Nietieto will have his parking lot on the corner of Dolores and Sixth Streets ready for occupancy, he told the Pine Cone this week. He has leased the lot next door to his restaurant, Su Vecino, from Walter Field of Modesto. He is putting in a retaining wall between the building and the lot, and topping the lot with decomposed granite.

Nietieto plans to rent parking space to business and professional men on a monthly basis. There are only 14 parking stalls in one block on Ocean Avenue, he points out, and he will have 25 in the lot. This should release approximately two blocks of parking along the curbs for the merchants' customers.

SAM COLBURN SHOW

A preview to which the public is invited will open the showing of recent watercolor paintings by Sam Colburn, on next Tuesday evening, October 9, at 8:00 o'clock, in the New Group Gallery on Oliver Street in Monterey.

The exhibit is of work done by the artist during the past year, and includes paintings made in Colorado and Nevada as well as some of local background.

City Spends $500 For Survey On Retirement Plan

Several amendments to the sales tax ordinance received first reading at the city council meeting Wednesday night. One repealed the $1.00 fee merchants were required to pay for their license to collect the sales tax. Some 191 permits have been issued already but the money collected will be deductible from the merchants' first sales tax return.

Other amendments exempt from sales tax materials used in construction work outside the city limits, and materials used in business operations outside the city limits.

Apparently determined to go ahead with the city employees' retirement plan, in spite of the fact that it is under fire by a number of citizens, the council authorized the expenditure of $500 for a survey to be made by a state expert, preliminary to setting up the plan, which will cost the city between $11,000 and $12,000 per year for 20 years. Citizens have raised the point that expenditures of such large sums which are binding on future councils, should be subject to a vote of the people through bond issue.

Wakefield Tells Kiwanis Of Plans For Little League

Jimmy Wakefield of Pacific Grove told the Carmel Kiwanis Club at its luncheon meeting Thursday of plans to get a Little League started on the Monterey Peninsula. Wakefield has been appointed by the Peninsula Chamber of Commerce to organize baseball for boys 8 to 12 years old. A town league will be four teams, and there will be town leagues in Carmel, Monterey, Pacific Grove and Seaside. Duke Thayer, Peninsula Recreation Director, is finding fields, but sponsors are needed, Wakefield said. The sponsors will spend about $300 a year to provide equipments, except mitts, which the boys must furnish themselves.

Umpires are needed. These are the key men who teach the boys the final lesson in applied sportsmanship. Team managers provide before game training and field generalship. In Little League these men are hard to find the first year. After that, there is never any difficulty. The trouble is to keep the number of teams within bounds.

Games are played in daylight in the late afternoon. Player school starts in April. The boys are trained and placed in a pool. Then comes the point bidding by the (Continued on Page Thirteen)

PADRECITOS HOST SERRA GRIDDERS THIS AFTERNOON

Coaches Gardiner and Varezza bring their undefeated Serra football squad to Bardarson Field this afternoon in quest of their third straight victory of the 1951 season. The scrappy Memorial gang has taken the measure of the Pacific Grove junior varsity and the Holy Cross (Santa Cruz) varsity. Loss of their great fullback, Stony Bruno, has not dampened the enthusiasm of the Serra lads and they have set their sights on an undefeated season.

The Padrecito mentor, Al Aldwell, sees a ray of hope off recent workouts as the green, red and gray lightweights sharpen up on their blocking and tackling. The little Padres would like nothing better than to upset the visiting Serra squad and notch their first victory of the season. Return to action of Kurt von Meier, Jim Pearson, and Bill Chalkley will give Aldwell's hopefuls a trio of experienced gridders who will help the offensive power. Von Meier and Pearson are both adept at moving the leather while Chalkley was one of the best blockers on the 1950 lightweight squad.

This afternoon's game gets underway at 3:30 o'clock, with the following starters nominated to take the field for the Padrecitos: John King and Don Morehead, ends, Danny Brosnan and Bob Ameil, tackles, Mike Ricketson and Del Redding, guards, Bob McIntire, center, George Kastner, quarterback, Kurt von Meier and Tommy Brosnan, halfbacks, and Paul Yementes, fullback. The complete lightweight squad will see plenty of action in today's tussle in preparation to the league-opener against Hollister next Friday.

Last Saturday afternoon, the Padrecitos dropped a 13-0 decision to the Salinas Lightweight reserves as a case of first half jitters presented the visitors with a pair of TDs. After getting rid of the butterflies during halftime, the little Padres came back in the second half and played some sound football. Outstanding in the line were Mike Ricketson, Leroy Spencer, Mike Stanton, and Bob Padelford, while the backfield play of George Kastner, Paul Yementes, and Tommy Brosnan looked promising.

PADRES TAME COAST BRONCOS, 33 to 0

Carmel High School's varsity football team stuttered and sputtered to a 33-0 victory over the willing Coast High gridders last Saturday afternoon but were very unimpressive in getting the job done. Weak blocking and weaker tackling betrayed the Padre squad all afternoon as the hard-working Coast lads outfought the locals all the way. A pair of hard-running Carmel backs, Bob Updike and Gene McFarland, garnered most of the yardage for the Padres, with Updike's power and McFarland's speed being too much for the Broncos.

Carmel got on the scoreboard in the first quarter as Henry Overin slipped inside right tackle for a six-pointer. In the second quarter, Gene McFarland blazed 28 yards around left end for another counter. Bob Updike completed the first half scoring for Carmel as he gathered in an Overin aerial for a 60-yard advance. While Carmel was scoring touchdowns, the Coast team gave the Padres fits in the first down department. The small Coast lineman opened gaping holes in the Carmel forward wall and poured the midget backs through for consistent gains. Fumbles at inopportune times prevented the visitors from scoring a pair of TDs in the first half.

The second half was a repetition of the first which saw Coast picking up the first downs and the locals getting the touchdowns. Ron Wolverton, a good running back all day, scoring from 17 yards out, and Gene McFarland rambled 14 yards for another six-pointer. Fine defensive play by Art Schurman and Bob Laugenour throttled the Coast wide stuff and forced the Broncos to seek yardage inside the tackles. Improved linebacking jobs were turned in by Don Canham and Ron Wolverton who had a busy afternoon with the slippery Coast backs.

This afternoon the Padres journey to Campbell to test one of the best teams in the Santa Clara Valley. Carmel lost a 13-12 decision to Lincoln High of San Jose last Friday and looked mighty good in nearly upsetting the big one. Running off the Waldorf T, the Campbell offense generates lots of power off the tackles and they have a forward passer who is considered tops in the SCVAL. Captain Sam Robison, Padre left guard, will lead an improved gang of gridders into action against Campbell this afternoon as the blocking and tackling has been sharpened during the past week. The Carmel squad is in good shape for this one and must be given a chance to upset the favorites if everyone on the team performs at top standard. A backfield of Stu Emery, Bob Updike, Ron Wolverton, and Henry Overin will be supported by linemen Craig Moore, Don Leidig, Sam Robison (Captain), Don Canham, Said Meheen, Pete Newell, and Myron Branson. Loss of Gerald McDonald, bound for England, leaves a void in the guard department which may take a little time to fill. The improved play of Said Meheen and Denny Johnson brightens the guard picture for today's game. Defensive stalwarts, Arleigh Jones, Bob Lemmon, Art Schurman, Bob Laugenour, and Paul Ricketson will see plenty of action against the San Jose powerhouse.

Game time at Campbell will be 3:30 o'clock. The Carmel squad will stop in Gilroy to scout the Gilroy-Salinas game, preparatory to the October 19th clash with Gilroy.

CLEAT MARKS

Practice tussles are about over and football teams are ready to start the serious business of league competition. Off practice game records, certain accurate prognostications can be made relative to the potential of the various teams. The local picture, insofar as the A and B leagues of the CCAL are concerned, looks something like this. Watsonville a shoo-in to win the A league, with Salinas, Santa Cruz, and Monterey a toss-up for the runner-up spot. Coach Emmett Geiser has another solid eleven rambling for the Wildcats this season and is located with powerful reserves. Loss of Roland Brooks has taken away the long-gainer threat but the remaining Watsonville backs are strong on power. Monterey High has one good eleven but drops off pretty fast when reaching for the reserves. Lecce, a swift halfback, and Rappa, an all-league end, could lead the Toradores to a few upsets.

Hollister Haybalers appear a shade better than the smaller schools in the B division and could repeat their championship performance of last year. Ample reserves will make the going easier for the Hollister squad. Coach Hanna's lads upset the powerful Dos Palos eleven last week, showing a quartet of swift halfbacks, a pile-driving fullback, and two nifty quarterbackbacks. Hollister employed a complete platoon system against Dos Palos. (The small schools better get in good shape.) Major threat to Hollister should come from King City, victors over Atascadero and Paso Robles in practice tilts. George Harris, one of the finest fullbacks in Northern California, sparks the Mustang backfield and ran wild against Atascadero and Paso Robles. In the CCAL Jamboree, Gonzales High impressed the experts with their solid blocking and tackling. A team which is sound in the fundamentals is tough to beat at any time. Pacific Grove has dropped a pair of practice games but look like a football team this year. Could surprise, Gilroy has sound coaching and a record turnout for football this year. Making their first appearance as an official member of the CCAL, the Mustangs may find the going a little rough, but Golden's boys will win a few. The unpredictable Carmel Padres have the potential to be a solid threat for the B league championship, needing only a spark to set off the winning spirit.

SANITARY BOARD MEETING

At its regular meeting Monday night, 7:30 o'clock, in the Ricketts Building, the Carmel Sanitary District Board will open bids for a load of concrete pipe, which it requires to make improvements at the reduction plant.

Review Of Paganini Quartet

BY EBEN WHITTLESEY

Making its third appearance in Carmel on Tuesday evening, the Paganini Quartet, under the leadership of Henri Temianka, first violin, gave a performance which was fully equal to the high expectations of those who had heard the Quartet before. Whether this quartet is equaled by any other in the country today, I do not know, but I think it is safe to say that it is not surpassed.

The concert was presented by the Monterey County Symphony Association, for the benefit of the Symphony Orchestra, which will give its first concert of the season here next month. In addition to Mr. Temianka, the quartet still includes Gustave Rosseels, second violin, another member of the original group founded five years ago. The viola is now played by Charles Froidart, and the cello by Adolphe Frezin. The ensemble playing has never been better, and the four beautifully matched Stradivarius instruments once owned by Paganini have a beauty of tone which is very remarkable.

The program consisted of three complete quartets by Haydn, Beethoven and Ravel, and a movement from a quartet by Gerhart Muench, contemporary composer living in Big Sur, a few miles from here and familiar as a pianist to local audiences.

Haydn's Quartet Opus 54, No. 1 in G major opened with a fast, smooth tempo, exciting glissandi well executed, and a remarkable richness of tone. The second movement was notable for the soft, flowing texture of tone and the eloquence of melody. The third and fourth movements were gay as only Haydn can be, but the interpretation stressed fluency and minimized the insistent rhythms which sometimes are tiresome to the modern ear.

Mr. Muench's composition is quite modern in flavor, and for this reason is hard to appraise on the strength of only one hearing. Furthermore, it was only one movement of a complete work which perhaps should be heard as a whole. In style it was somewhat reminiscent of the earlier work of Stravinsky, before the full scope of his originality was apparent. It seemed to me to embody some of the less desirable features of both the classic and modern theories of composition without any particular excellence in either direction. It was certainly accorded the benefit of skillful and sympathetic interpretation.

Beethoven's Quartet Opus 74 in A flat major, known as the Harp Quartet, was a fine example of that composer's technique of building the quartet form into really orchestral proportions. Only artists of first rank could give full effect to the sustained chords, the fleet runs and electric quality of the pizzicato passages. Diminuendi were perfectly controlled. The second movement has a striking part for the viola against a background of rich chords colored with interesting dissonances. The final movement was played with stimulating attack, and the solo parts were not overstressed, maintaining good dynamite balance with the background.

Following the intermission, Ravel's Quartet in F major proved perhaps the most exciting part of the program. It has tremendous intensity, rich color, dominated by a vibrant, questioning mood. Elaborate pizzicato passages were well executed, while in the first movement the shimmering play of violins against a warm low cello accompaniment was especially striking. I have never heard Ravel played with more telling effectiveness.

Potters Return Coincides With New Story Book

Mr. and Mrs. Zenas Potter arrived in New York last week on the Queen Elizabeth, after spending two and a half years in Europe. They expect to reach their Carmel home October 7.

While in Europe, Zenas Potter painted industriously, several exhibits of his work being shown abroad. Last year his wife, Miriam Clark Potter, author of children's stories, wrote The Littlebits, which is to be published by J. B. Lippincott Company on October 10. The Littlebit stories, charming adventures of a family of tiny people who live in The Magic Meadow, have appeared in Children's Activities, a magazine. Now the stories have been illustrated with delightful, whimsical pictures done jointly by the author and Zenas Potter. "We are an artist," Mrs. Potter remarked recently in a letter to her daughter, Mrs. Margaret Potter Hemfel of Carmel.

Mrs. Hemfel's two children, Peter and Judy, are among the grandchildren to whom Mrs. Potter dedicates The Littlebits. "For Peter and Judy, Carolyn and David, Michael and Sandra." Carolyn and David are the children of Mr. and Mrs. Alan Bruce of Palo Alto, and Michael and Sandra are the son and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Anatole Chelnov of Paris. The Potter grandchildren are perhaps related also to Teeny and Tiny, Wiff and Bitsy, and baby Squee, the Littlebit children who swing on the apples hanging from a tree and help hang the family wash between two strong daisies, with blackberry thorn clothespins, "like petals in the bright sunshine."

The Littlebit adventures, for all the dangers of wayward beetles, vast mudpuddles and housebreaking moles, flows along as merrily as a pretty brook. A true childlike simplicity is one of Mrs. Potter's gifts, and she depicts a world of delicate freshness. "The air smelled of sweet things—mint and honeysuckle and clover and roses.

"Madwoman" To Play Two More Week Ends

The return engagement of the legendary Parisian fantasy, The Madwoman of Chaillet, has proved so popular that it will play for two more week ends at the Wharf Theatre. Elizabeth Stevens will again star in the title role which she played so successfully and beautifully before, and Thomas Brock has directed the production as sensitively as he did the last one.

Two new members of the cast are Dee Olivetti, well-known for many outstanding performances on the Peninsula and particularly for her role of Lola Montez, and Jane Parker, who has been associated with many theatrical productions but is making her first local appearance on the stage, although

The sky was as blue as the brook, and the brook was as soft as the sky."

Her imagination creates the kind of fancies that are most treasured by small children, as when Squee, after his molehole explorations confides, "Mother, I heard the angworms chewing, way under there."

she has had over twenty years of acting experience.

Robert Carson, Henry Bate, Dorothy Osbourne, Donna Powers and William Hawley are other members of the cast and they are all remembered for their previous roles of great variety. Bruce Ariss has designed a perfectly charming Paris cafe set for the first act.

The Madwoman will play Friday, Saturday and Sunday nights October 5, 6, 7 and 12, 13, 14 with the curtain rising at 8:30 o'clock.

Small and large printing orders are quickly filled at The Pine Cone Press, Dial Carmel 7-3881.

Happy Mountain

BY OLIVE SWEZY

It was in the depths of last winter that we first heard of a little orphanage in Korea where the children casualties of war were being cared for. Chaplain Mark H. Penoyer had been writing about them, and Mrs. Penoyer suggested that it would be a fine thing if our relief group at the Church of the Wayfarer would send them some of the clothing we had been collecting. Our first boxes reached Pusan the last week in March, being sent direct to Chaplain Penoyer. Of these he wrote:

"I wish you and all the good folks that sent clothing over to me could have gone with me to the Children's Hospital this afternoon when I delivered the clothing. There were over one hundred of them in every condition you could imagine. When they saw the clothing their little faces all lighted up with great big smiles. Those that could talk said, 'Thank you, thank you.'"

Later Chaplain Penoyer sent us pictures of some of the children wearing some of that clothing. They looked just like children playing on the next block. We continued to send boxes of clothing throughout the summer, making children's garments as well as sending used clothing. When Chaplain Penoyer found that he would soon be returned to the States, he turned our boxes over to the Civil Assistance department, and then we found out more about our little orphanage. It was Captain Clifford G. McKeon who was distributing our clothing, and today there came a letter from him which said, in part:

"Children evacuated from the North have had almost every type of wound caused by bombing and gun fire. They have been placed in the hospital section of the orphanage Happy Mountain. As these children are healed they are either returned to their families or are placed here on Happy Mountain. It is then necessary to clothe them, so you can readily see how gifts such as yours are utilized. Mere words cannot express the appreciation for your generosity to the children of this orphanage."

Along with his letter Captain McKeon sent another letter written by a fellow officer which is an interesting document, filled with some of the hard, cruel facts of life, yet also filled with some of the vision and hopes for the future which we like to think characteristic of our American youth. This letter follows.

Pusan, Korea
"We have good air up here":

One of the most christian undertaking of Korea is the task assumed by young Army Captain Clifford McKeon. He says he is from Perth Amboy, New Jersey, because that is where the girl lives that he is going to marry when the work's done out here.

He has adopted six hundred little souls, and has put them up in scrap lumber and tarpaulin shacks. A roof, plenty to eat, medical attention, a few blackboards, a blanket each, sixteen native teachers, and a big bunch of hope. For kids whose mama-sans and papa-sans are gone or missing.

It all started the last cold-bitter winter when thousands of children arrived here in Pusan from all Korea, North and South, Hamhung and Yongdong Po, Seoul and Taegu. Captain McKeon as operations officer for the ND Logistical Command's Civil Assistance Section was shocked by phone calls reporting children freezing to death, dying of hunger, and wounds, on the streets of Pusan. He and Corporal Jackson Bogart, an Iowa school-teacher rounded up many and shipped them to The Isle of Hope, nearby Kojedo where natives pitched in with the US Army and cared for them. Others were rounded up and put up in an old leather dyeing factory, which wasn't satisfactory and the site was shifted to a hillside, a stone's throw from Syngman Rhee's Pusan home, out of the stench of crowded dirty Pusan.

Cliff quickly realized that these orphans needed medical attention, some so tiny, they were carried here, others bigger, with ugly wounds that need sulfa, and penicillin.

The medical attention has become the start of what promises to be the finest children's hospital in all Korea.

At present it is just a rambling-ranch shack. Its dim Pusan-made electric light bulbs show the filament. The eighty odd patients lie on cots raised a few inches from the wooden floor. The native nurses do all they can to prevent infection and cheer up the children. Some of the cutest darlings are in the TB contagious room and the best sleepers are in the infant room. . . . Some tiny babies with bullet and shrapnel wounds. . . .

And right now Cliff says, "Americans can adopt as many as they can afford by mail, he figures it costs about $17.00 a month, 'boy or girl', for total adoption." The child with help if need be, will send pictures, letters, regular record of weight, growth, school progress and "full appreciation."

An Open Letter to all Theatre Lovers

When Voltaire said, "I do not agree with a word you have said, but will defend, until death, your right to say it", that was how he felt about tolerance. The truth and perfection of thought behind those words, live and breathe today as they did almost two hundred years ago.

If you love good theatre, and if you are familiar with all phases of theatre, you know that, in order to enjoy full participation in it, whether you are actively a part of a group, or just one in an audience, there can be no room for adverse dispositions, suspicions, prejudices or pettiness.

It is not my wish to appear homiletical, nor am I mentally crusading for, or against, any one person or group of persons. This is, instead, a very definite appeal to all true artists, who have a warm, genuine interest in the very best that good theatre has to offer.

There is an abundance of natural talent, in the field of dramatics, here on the Monterey Peninsula. Needless to say that, without this contribution, there would be no theatre. So, we, who love and appreciate good theatre, recognize this talent to be its most valuable asset. But, in this recognition, we very frequently lose sight of a very important factor, and that is, that if this talent is not allowed the complete freedom it so well deserves, it will become isolated and wasted.

That is why, today—perhaps for the very first time in the history of the Peninsula, we, who are enthusiastic for good theatre, should take every advantage of this opportunity to feel a collective responsibility toward all theatre groups, by sharing, and by expanding our present scope of thinking, to include all members of dramatic organizations in communities on the Peninsula. And, we must realize, more than ever, that through this sharing, on the part of all individual members, we are contributing all available talent, all activities representing all phases of theatre, to each other and to each community, and that by so doing, we gain so much more than we otherwise would, were we all to label our own immediate groups, "exclusive".

There is nothing so stimulating, or so gratifying, as the feeling you get when you are all working together, energetically and harmoniously, toward one objective, and that is, to present good theatre and to maintain a union of purpose. And from this union, evolves trust, and because of this trust in each other, individuals and groups, we establish a sound reputation for presenting good theatre, that will be enduring and dependable for all Peninsula audiences today, and for all of the tomorrows.

The Time Has Come .

By Kippy Stuart

This week I have had two tele- week's article in this column. The first question was "What is a node?" In advising making cuttings for geraniums I said that one node should go beneath the ground. A node is any joint on a stem; the point of intersection of a leaf. Cut all foliage away on these cuttings except the small top leaves, with which the cutting breathes while making roots.

The second question also had to do with geraniums. I was asked if cuttings could be started in tin cans and if the tin cans could then be placed in the ground, beneath ground level. The answer is yes. In time the tin will rot but there is no damage done to the plant root in the process of rotting. It would be advisable to use one-gallon cans and not the small kitchen variety of cans.

I'm defeated. I give up, unless some one can come to my rescue. I've fought white flies now for years with absolutely no luck. The white fly always wins. I've tried the water cure at twilight which is supposed to give the white fly pneumonia; well if it does, the thing recovers immediately. I've tried isotox-lindane with Volk and a touch of Black Leaf Forty. I've tried straight nicotine. I've tried everything in the book and white flies still feast upon my plants.

The white fly does not do any visual damage to plants, but the results of colonies of this insect in the garden are disastrous. The plants begin to take on a sickly look and black soot covers the leaves. In time, fuchsias, especially, give up the ghost and look worse. Many drop their leaves long before their time and about this time of year one has a garden that is shattered and forlorn. Maybe you don't know you have white fly? Go out into the garden just before dark and gently wave a fuchsia branch. Tiny bits of what look like wood ashes will tremble in the air.

This is supposed to be a great bulb year. Nurserymen and dealers are offering us all sorts of new hybrid bulbs and in this locality bulbs do very well. Before planting any sort of bulb, be sure and dust with a powder containing lindane. This insures a far better crop and obviates the root aphid and wire worms.

My winter flowers are all in and give promise of a good harvest. Stock is wonderful, but unless you have a well drained spot, there is no use planting stock. In putting in the young stock plants, have the ground very damp, then just go away and forget all about watering stock. The young plants should be protected from the hot sun and if they are not protected, down will go their heads . . . you will think they are screaming for water . . . and you will be surprised. For stock does not like water. Snapdragons are a natural for winter cutting, and snapdragons are not as fussy as stock is. You can water snapdragons whenever you like, and be sure and cut back the first buds, on both snaps and stock.

When you plant your bulbs, scatter seeds over the bed, then when the die-back process of the bulbs begins, you will be rewarded by a summer shower of cutting flowers that hide the ugly-die-back. Clarkia and godetia are splendid for this purpose; also larkspur and Virginia stock. All you have to do with the job of scattering seeds, is to see that at no time the ground dries out. Just keep it reasonably damp and you'll have results.

Legion Diverted By Judge Ray Baugh's Columbus Monologue

At its regular monthly meeting of October 1, Carmel Legion Post No. 512 turned out its largest attendance in months to enjoy the diverting humor of Justice Baugh posing as a Direct Descendent of the Great Genoese Navigator Columbus, the discoverer of America.

In costume, in dialect, with compelling gesticulation that brought hilarious appreciation from his Actual cases of modern Christian healing through spiritual means alone will be related by Harry B. MacRae, C.S.B., of Dallas, Texas, in a public lecture here on October 11, at 8:00 p.m. in the church edifice, Monte Verde at Sixth.

Mr. MacRae, a member of the Board of Lectureship of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Massachusetts, brings to his subject, a wide background of practical experience. Before he became interested in Christian Science he was taking a premedical course at the University of Cincinnati. In 1913 he had reached the fourth year of his studies when his father experienced physical healing in audience, Justice Baugh pictured his Great (and then some) Great Grandfather as an example of that intrepidity, determination and self-reliance that has characterized the real American to this day.

Christian Science. This convinced him of the efficacy of spiritual healing.

During World War I Mr. MacRae served as lieutenant and pursuit pilot in the Air Force of the United States Army. On returning to civil life he engaged in business for several years. In 1932 he joined The Mother Church, also a branch church, First Church of Christ, Scientist, Dallas, Texas, which he served in various capacities. He withdrew from business pursuits in 1932 to devote himself to the public practice of Christian Science, and later he became an authorized teacher of this practical religion. As a member of The Christian Science Board of Lectureship he has lectured throughout the United States.

The MARIANA SHOP on Alvarado Street in Monterey has the perfect all-round suit, by Sacony. These all-wool flannels are only $29.95. The shoulders are smoothed with contour padding, the lapels are crisply lined, and the whole silhouette is rounded to fall's new, smart lines. Flannel is one of the up-and-coming new fabrics for fall fashion, combining beauty and utility. These suits can be worn for any occasion. Add a blouse, and it can be worn to the office; drape your furs over it, and you are perfectly dressed for a dinner party. Fine for travel too—just toss on a coat and you are ready. MARIANA'S has these little gems in a good range of colors and sizes. Come in and see them.

In every home there is always a need for an extra ash-tray or two. This week at O'KEEFFE'S on Dolores Street there is a fine selection of ceramic ash-trays. These are in black with cream-colored figures, all amusing and definitely original. Each one, and there are four types to choose from, has a different design, with its own clever title on the back. Your family or guests would certainly be pleased to be served salad in an individual salad bowl. These can be bought in sets or singly. They come in beautiful satiny Swiss Maple; unfinished, so that gradually they absorb the oils from the salad and create a lovely patina of their own. O'KEEFFE'S has three beautiful Venetian glass vases, a joy to own; in light gold, silvery blue or delicate pink. They are ideal for large bouquets or merely as ornaments on your buffet, or mantle. Here is an idea; for your next cocktail party or buffet dinner, come in and see the "fold-aways". These are small tables with composition tops, and slim but sturdy legs. They can be compactly folded in the middle and put away until needed. Four colors to choose from: red, black, beige, and brownish-gold. They are sold by the rack, with four tables to a unit. No more balancing of plates and glasses on your knees, when you have tables such as these from O'KEEFFE'S.

Completely feminine and cozily warm are the newest offerings in night-wear, from HARRIET DUNCAN, on Sixth Street. There are two styles of these Downy Wyns by Van Raalte, both in brushed rayon. The first, selling for $5.95, has a fitted waist, wide ribbon draw-strings at the collar, and tucking around the neck; also, long cuffed sleeves. The second style has the same fitted waist, dreamy nylon lace around the neck and at the cuffs of the long gathered sleeves. Also, narrow

Forrest Barnes To Direct Next Play At First Theatre

Forrest Barnes will direct the next show at California's First Theatre, Monterey, engaged by the Denny-Watrous Management to direct during the absence of Rhea Diveley, who is soon to leave for the Orient on a long sea voyage.

Mr. Barnes, whose direction of The Corn is Green, Lysistrata and a long list of plays has established him on the Peninsula as a figure of eminence in local theatre activity, has chosen for his production one of the smash-hits in which he played "on the road", Sainly Hypocrites and Honest Sinners. It has all the stock parts of villain, hero, heroine, character parts, etc.

Try-outs for the new play have been set for Wednesday night of next week, October 10 at 8:00 o'clock, to be held at the First Theatre building, on Pacific and Scott Streets, Monterey. Everyone interested in the opportunity to play in the First Theatre is invited to come to the try-outs and read for Mr. Barnes.

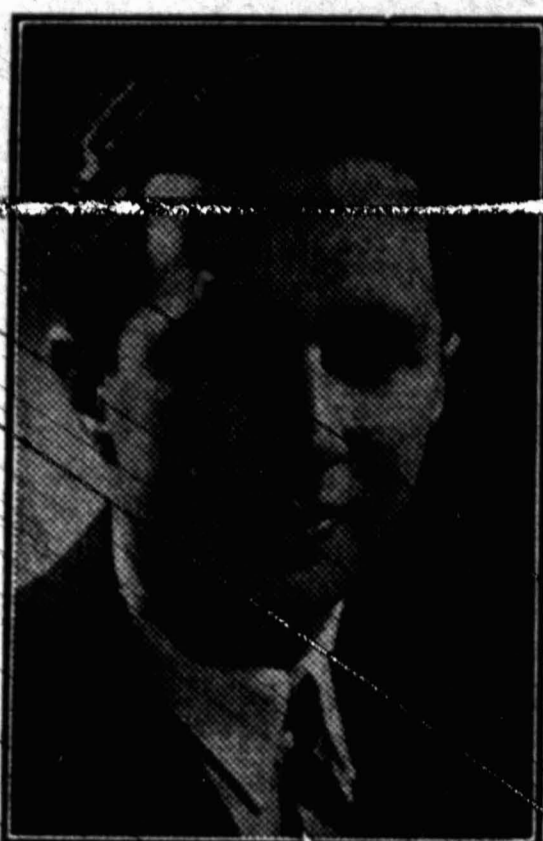

Doubling in Bass, Current First Theatre show, directed by Rhea Diveley, is playing on Saturday nights only, having gone into its winter schedule. "Brass" will close on November 10, giving way to the new show which is scheduled to open on Friday night, November 16.

draw-strings at the neck. All this snugly warmth for $6.95. HARRIET DUNCAN offers these kitten-soft sleep-easies in sizes 34 to 40. The colors? Lemon, lime, pink grapefruit, and juniper-berry! P.S. Absolutely and easily washable.

At MAXINE'S, the curtain is going up on the Trip-Taker, a unique suit made up of five separate parts. Wear them in any combination— together, singly or with any garment you already have. The five parts are of wool-jersey; the basic item being the skirt. This can be worn with the camisole top and cardigan jacket, or with the charming button-down-the-front blouse—or any combination that pleases you. Think of the possibilities this suit offers! A narrow belt completes the ensemble. Two colors—black or white, both with gold scroll trim. All these items can be bought separately. MAXINE'S, on Dolores Street, also has a marvelous collection of wool-jersey separates and go-togethers; blouses, skirts and dresses. One dress in particular caught my attention, a lovely, soft little thing with a swinging pleated skirt, neat round neck, and short pert sleeves. Three beautiful colors: beige, forest green, and deep cherry red.

PRINTING?

Small and large printing orders are quickly filled at The Pine Cone Press, Dial Carmel 7-3881.

Monterey Peninsula Community Concert Association will present, as its first concert of the 1951-52 season, Samuel Sorin, pianist, on Friday, October 5, in the Pacific Grove High School Auditorium at 8:15 p.m.

Samuel Sorin is a well known soloist with most of the leading Symphony Orchestras of the United States—an American, born in Detroit and piano student since the age of six.

"A brilliant technique and a virile style that is at once attractive, he will become a power in music", is but one of the opinions expressed by music critics over the country.

Membership cards are now being processed and will be in the mail within a few days. Anyone who has recently changed mailing addresses should contact the Monterey Peninsula Community Concert Association at P.O. Box 300, Pacific Grove, immediately in order to assure the card's arrival before this first concert. There will be no single admissions sold for this concert.

Members are reminded that the auditorium doors are not opened until 7:30 p.m. This is necessary in order that those who work during a concert for the comfort of the audience may arrive and take their places before the evening's bustle begins.

Precinct Captains Are Announced For Chest Campaign

Albert Lester, Chest campaign chairman, spoke before a gathering of Carmel precinct captains and volunteer workers Wednesday morning at Sunset School, briefing them on their duties during the 1951 Monterey Peninsula Community Chest drive for funds, which opens October 1 throughout the Peninsula.

Mrs. Edmond Sullivan, Carmel residential chairman for the drive, presided at the meeting.

What Shall We Call It?

By E. MARSH

Strollers about Carmel are bound to have their attention captured by the pet names that cottages bear, names ranging from obvious to cryptic, from sentimental to stolid. They make a curious conglomeration with no one thread in common except that they are most abundant in the older parts of town with Monte Verde Street winning highest tally. In such areas one is reminded that once upon a time week-enders and retired professional people were not the minority group in Carmel.

India Edwards To Speak Here On Columbus Day

Democrats of the Peninsula will honor Mrs. India Edwards at a luncheon at Casa Munras on October 12 at 12:30 p.m.

The Democrats were all steamed up to give Mrs. Edwards a rousing welcome several weeks ago but her trip to California was delayed by business in Washington.

It seems fitting that Mrs. Edwards should share the holiday with Columbus, for while he discovered America hunting for India, India Edwards discovered how to place the women of America in strategic political places. She began her career as a newspaper woman on the Chicago Tribune but switched to politics and is now head of the Women's Division of the National Democratic Committee.

The Women's Democratic Club of Carmel, United Democrats and the Democratic County Committee are sponsoring the luncheon.

Reservations may be made by telephoning Mrs. Florence Geisen, 8-0178 or Frederick Farr, 7-0735. In Monterey, Mrs. Talcott Bates is in charge of arrangements, telephone 5-4845. Reservations may be made by mail, Box 2315 Carmel. The public is welcome.—S.F.

HI CHATTER

By Joan Kempen

Another school year is under way. With the old routine well in hand it is time to turn to the diversions, or extra-curricular activities.

For the benefit of those who do not know, this semester's student body officers are: Gilbert Niell, president; Bob Updike, vice-president; Marcia Banelz, secretary; Ann Spurr, treasurer; Sue McCloud, commissioner of social affairs; Diana Horne, commissioner of publicity; Jane Lowrey, commissioner of girls' athletics; and Stewart Emery, commissioner of boys' athletics.

The staff of El Padre has been chosen for this year with Sue McCloud as editor-in-chief. Her able assistants, heading the various phases of preparing the annual, are: Peggy Weaver, advertising; Carol Timbers, photography; Alene Petty, business and publicity; Babs Balzer, art; Paula Roloff, literary; and Kathleen Whittaker, subscriptions.

The California Scholarship Federation (C.S.F.) held a dessert meeting at Pat Finley's home on October 4. The main purpose of the meeting was to discuss revisions of the constitution. From all reports both the meeting and dessert were a huge success.

NEED PRINTING?

Small and large printing orders are quickly filled at The Pine Cone

World.

There's a department of confusion and mockery: Pine Knot in a setting of pure cypress; Cypress Villa in a setting of pine; Wild Manzanita of which there is none; West Gate with no gate; Sandpiper with a pair of robins haunting the paths; and Casa de Rosas fronted by geraniums, hydrangias, fuchsias, marguerites and ivy, but no roses.

Pet names can be designed for the initiate. Of such are: The Cottage Called Basing, Olla Podrida, Quasi Niente, Chaika, El Morzocco, Arvuelo, Thalama, Quisisana and House of Charm with the name on a beat-up old awning.

There's the whimsical, the sweetened, the this-and-that. I give you: Sitting Pretty, Rumble Seat; Idlehour Cottage, Lazy Croft; Elizabeth, The Blue Peach; Sea Villa, Edgemere; Quandary, Me Too; The Three Imps, His'n Hers; Under the Moon; Make Believe; Whimsy, Will-of-the-Wisp; Weed High, Suits Us.

There are pet names that delight you by their humor, their poetry, or by indefinable charm: Cheerio, Sand and Sea, Driftin, Destiny Bay, Sheltering Pine, Ho Hum, Right Ending, Silver Shingles, Wits End, Cosy Hollow, Landfall, Shady Lanes, Footsteps of Spring, Adventure Minor, Early Dawn, and Aftermath, said to be a calculated summation of a retired math professor. Joyful and triumphant, a pet name to end all pet names.

Most ubiquitous are las casas and las casitas: La Casita, Casa Mia, Casita Mia, La Casa del Mar, Casa Verde, Casa de Tierra, Casita Linda, Casa Querida, Casa della Commedia, Casa Ramona and La Casita Amarilla, a large white house.

It's a rare block without some Spanish touch: Olas Verdes, Los Arboles, Linda Vista, El Encanto, Las Ondas, Los Arcos, El Nido, La Entradita Blanca.

Then there are names for the lovers of the wayward sun: Sun Trap, Sundeck, Sunrise Turn, Sun Tan, Sunny, Sun Up, Sunbeam, Sun Bay, Sunset and Sunshine Cottage.

Some names repeat themselves: La Casita and Casita Mia, of course, also Crackerbox and Storybook House. Dun Roaming's a sign that pops up here and there and finally goes with the owner when he moves away.

The happy ones make themselves manifest in: Happy Hollow, Happy Hills, Happy Landing and Happy Harbor.

Oaks and pines are liberally represented: Ivy Oaks, Oakmont, Sea Oaks, Seven Oaks, Oak Hogan, Los Robles, Oak Haven, Pine Oaks, Arden Pines, Three Pines, Lincoln Pines, Pine Terrace, Lighted Pine, Alta Pines, Pine View, Tranquil Pine and Pine Cone.

There's the sea round us suggested by: Low Tide, Spindrift, Nautius, Sea Urchin, Periwinkle, Drift and White Caps.

Emphasis on shrubs and flowers and potted plants shows up in: Hidden Garden, Gardensyde, Garden Gate, and Huerto del Mar.

Little things and little animals have their appeal: June Bug, The Shrimp, Firefly, The Cricket, Bird's Nest, The Twig, Four Leaf Clover, Little Wheelbarrow, Nut Shell, The Acorn, Little Acorn, the Crumb and Lucky Penny.

Some home owners appear to have a nostalgia for other lands and peoples: Bergenhus, Strandhouse, Wee House, Koala Cottage, Braemar, Toujour Gai, Shangri-La, Robinhold, Gypsy Cottage, Hampton Court, Lincoln Heather, Darby Du, Inglow North.

There are names that are a hundred percent applicable and admit of no argument: Tuckaway, Rockrose, Ivy Corner, Southwester and Rockbottom.

There's an up-in-the-air element in the community: Little Perch, Skyway, The Loft, Tree Top, The Knoll, Perch, Sky View, Sea Scan, Hillside House and Top of the

Pure Mountain Water

Monterey Peninsula water is true mountain water of the finest quality. The Carmel River, source of the Peninsula supply, begins in the wilderness and with its branches drains one of the most productive watersheds in the state.

This fruitful watershed lies within the Los Padres National Forest in the Santa Lucia Mountains and extends over an area of 126 square miles. Rainfall in the region varies from 10 to 40 inches a season with an annual average for the last 23 years of 20¾ inches, measured at San Clemente Dam.

To provide an adequate supply for the dry months of the year, millions of gallons of the water which falls on the watershed in the rainy season are held back by Los Padres and San Clemente Dams and stored in mountain reservoirs for future use. The abundant supply of good water available to the Monterey Peninsula every month in the year is one of the factors which have made this area a favored home place.

Have You Read . . . ?

THE DUSKY-FOOTED WOOD RAT by Jean M. Linsdale and Lloyd P. Tevis, Jr. University of California Press, 1951.

(Reviewed by Enid A. Larson, Biology Instructor, Carmel High School)

The natural history of the Wood Rat is written as a record of an animal in relationship to its environment. Also, woven into the story is the pattern of its relationships with other vertebrate animals and its parasite and commensal associates. This rodent and its environment have been the focus of attention of a group of scientific observers for more than 10 years on the Frances Simes Hastings Natural History Reservation located in the mountains above Carmel Valley. The book, just released from the Press, is unusual in extent. It publishes for the first time many unknown and heretofore unobserved behaviors and facts concerning the life history of a single species of animal. The book is written in clear, concise, understandable language, is most attractive in appearance, and is logically organized. Artistic drawings and photographs of characteristic poses and behaviors of the wood rat are used to supplement amply the graphic descriptions. Accuracy of observation in the field is convincing and leaves no room for questioning the authenticity of the evidence. To the authors' credit, unusual precautions have been taken to avoid misrepresentation or misinterpretations of the data gathered and recorded on 580 individual rats.

"The story of the dusky-footed wood rat is concerned mainly with the behavior of individual rats, the length of their stay at certain houses, their reasons for moving, their conflicts with intruders, their departures from home, and their relations to other members of the family. The histories of houses and of individuals are long, but they develop according to the well-established characters that fit the species into the environment of the Santa Lucia Mountains.

"The dusky-footed rat is a medium-sized rodent native in North America. It and its relative in the genus Neotoma are called pack rats, trade rats, brush rats, and cave rats. This wood rat rarely leaves its normal living quarters in the wilds, though it sometimes comes to isolated human houses. Because wood rats are nocturnal, they are seldom seen unless a special search is made for them, but their conspicuous stick houses on the ground are certain indicators of their presence.

"The conditions that enable a rat to leave its house and those that affect it when it is away from its shelter constitute severe tests of the animal's ability to survive. Even when it lives in a house that provides adequate protection from unfavorable weather and from carnivores, the rat must be able to avoid these dangers or to meet them successfully during expeditions away from home. A rat makes these trips mainly to get food or house-building material, to escape from dangerous intruders or intolerant members of its own family, and to seek other members of its species.

"Wood rats are known to be nocturnal animals with activities restricted mainly to times of darkness. The animals may vary in the time they become active in the evening, and in the continuity of their activity, and in the time their main activity is terminated. Activities inside and outside the house may have differing purposes and may extend for differing lengths of time. The rats sometimes come out of their houses in the daytime. These excursions appear to be for various purposes and for various lengths of time; often they result from some disturbance and the rat returns as soon as the disturbance ceases."

Of the kinds of food eaten by wood rats the following were ranked by the authors as of major importance when available: Red willow, Arroyo willow, Maul oak, Live oak, Blackberry, Chamise, Coffeeberry, Buckbrush, Jim brush.

FIRST RAIN

*Who knows but he who thirsts the full delight

Who, lulled with plenty and the sloth of sleep,
Can draw the sharp aromas of the ground
Into the desert of his mind, and keep His newly quickened sight?*

*Nor is it merely rain. This fragrant shower
Is wine for weariness; is faith renewed;
The very air is washed of dust and haze,
And all the heights are brightened and imbued
With glory to defy the darkening days—
The sky is out in flower!*

*Into this hour all innocence is given.
The earth's alive!
Beyond the fears that harry at the mind
Above the song of sea, the chime of bird,
Here is a freshness time can never find.

—D. H.

EARLY SEPTEMBER EVENING

*Remembered as song, the warm September rain,
Earth and trees aglow, a singing hour,
O, never such beauty spun for me again,
Light of your smile; the purple webs of rain.*

*Remembered as song, the joy of your blue eyes shining,
Fragrance of bark, the yellow leaves on the ground,
Harmony of mood, our hands entwining,
Threads of music gathering close around.*

*Remembered as song, your voice in the rain, your smile;
Fragile as blossoms quivering rainbow light,
Heavensong—heard for so brief a while;
Voice of a star one loses in the night.*

—BUTH CLAIR.

IN A RAINY WOOD

*The jangling discord in my core
Is muted, I am healed and whole
To a deep, orchestrated score
That beats on grass and bole.*

*Alert, intent, with open ear,
I hold a sound of utter tone
As simply as the woodfolk hear
And am no more alone.*

*A listener, to miss no note,
One with the rhythm of the rain,
Close, near, bare to my inmost root,
I ease my ache and pain.*

—ALEX R. SCHMIDT.

Poison oak is also eaten freely by the rats.

The study, as it was concerned with population, found in conclusion that "the number of rats in an area does not remain constant as long. Changes occur continually and for many reasons." "A rat rarely goes far from a house already built and ready for occupancy. This restriction to a small home area allows only a slow spread into new areas, for new houses are rarely begun outside an occupied colony. However, this is no great handicap, for suitable new habitats are also slow in developing. In this region the natural spread of woody vegetation is so rare and so slow that the habitat is remarkably stable.

"The population of rats in an area may be thought of as the total number present either at one time or throughout a given interval of time. We have come to think of it, however, as including more than just the numbers. The numbers change continuously but not uniformly in either space or time; fluctuation, in this species, is clearly connected with the nature of the occupancy of the houses. Not only does a rat own and stay in or near its house, but most of its behavior depends on the nature of the house, which determines its length of residence and its movement to a new house. The social relations among the animals show varying degrees of attraction, tolerance, and intolerance.

For the small boy who is consumed with curiosity about wood rats it will answer his most frequently voiced query "What does it eat?" For the teacher, it fills a long-felt need for a demonstration of techniques for and values in recording field observations accurately. For the nature lover, the book opens up new horizons of interest in the interrelationships in the living world around him; for the biologist there is a wealth of previously unrecorded data and the pointing up of new ecological problems for future research. For the general reader, The Dusky-Footed Wood Rat is filled with intense and often dramatic life episodes which are more exciting than fiction—these are really true.

The Frances Simes Hastings Natural History Reservation is an area of 1700 acres which for over 14 years has been left undisturbed by man so that plants and animals may live there free from man's influences on the land. It functions as an outdoor laboratory for research. This tract is maintained through the generosity of Mrs. Russell P. Hastings in conjunction with the University of California. It is managed by the Museum of Vertebrate Zoology of the University of California under the directorship of Jean M. Linsdale. Under his able and inspired leadership scientific workers are in the field both night and day gathering data to further man's knowledge of Natural History. The co-author, Lloyd P. Tevis, Jr., maintains a home in Carmel, has participated in several zoological studies of vertebrates, and is currently engaged in research for the College of Agriculture, University of California.

Fire Look-Out On Leave . . .

BY KATE RENNIE ARCHER.

Tonight I shall keep watch, seeing dawn drift slowly into the night sky; sensing the tremor of change from night to day.

The hills will be circled about me. The lake below will be a glimmer of blue steel in the darkness. The river will show grey in its rapids, and white at the waterfall above the lake. The stars will be watching for dawn, and so shall I. And I shall be in my own place again.

Then tomorrow I shall go down to the log-built cottage in the clearing. The smell of flaming eucalyptus will fill its rooms, and be caught in the curly hair of my beloved, and rouse me when I rub my chin on the top of her brown head.

It will be dusk again. There will only be light of the fire in the home-room, but the side window will have a light set in it, because the path we have trodden in the grass across the

POINT LOBOS RESERVE

WILD ASTER, (ASTER CHILENSIS)

When summer is finished and fall is just beginning, the common aster teams up with golden rod to give the last touch of color to what has been the wild flower fields. Point Lobos is not blessed with an abundance of goldenrod, it seems, but this is made up for by the many large groups and single plants of purple aster which are now blooming in all the open places.

glade passes that way.

I shall come from the greenish sky-glow on the top of the mountain to the indigo shadow of the canyon, then finally to the clearing. From there we can see the ocean.

The light, and the wood-smoke, and the door standing open, will make me run to them, and my heart will almost crack with the joy of having the wide windy mountain for my range, and the warm woman-welcome for my rest. We will eat, and come to the door to see the moon-sickle hang by one corner over the mountain. We shall be home... foresters in the forest! Fire-folk by their own fireside. The servant served by the tyrant, the red foe firmly in leash.

Unlike the woolly aster mentioned in an earlier article, the common aster stands erect, sometimes as tall as three feet. The leaves and stems are smooth, leathery, and not too attractive since most leaves are turning brown by the time the flower heads are opening. The center of the flower is composed of many minute, pale yellow tube flowers which are surrounded by the purple rays. These rays, very pretty in dark purple when new, turn almost white later in life. Other than the purple and yellow flower of the aster there is practically no color surrounding the flower except the dead grass and brown leaves of its own plant.

The stem is much-branched near the top and reddish in color throughout its entire length. Many plants grow near each other to form a community of asters because they grow from perennial rootstocks. Mr. Wilson tells me that he has noticed in the Southwest, and throughout Washington and Oregon, great hedges and banks of flowering asters about this time of the year. Some of the beds of aster here are 20 feet or more in diameter and practically nothing else grows in this area.

The leaves are long; more than three inches, and narrow (less than a half inch), and pointed. Each flower head contains about two dozen rays, some lapping over others in a double row. This would be a much more attractive wild flower here were it not for the fact that the bare stalks and dried-up leaves mingle with the pretty purple flowers.

Most of the asters are found growing in grassy, open places exposed to the sunlight, from the valleys to the foothills. Along the coast from Humboldt to Santa Barbara counties one will find this species.—Ken Legg

MAWDSLEY'S BACK

City Clerk Peter Mawdsley is back at his desk after a trip to Vancouver, B. C., Victoria, and the Olympic National Park in Washington. He and Mrs. Mawdsley found good weather staying with them until they left the Park. The whole trip was delightful, Mr. Mawdsley affirms.

June Delight Takes Trip To Celebrate Her Retirement

Mr. and Mrs. John Canoles celebrated the retirement of June Delight, dance instructor, who is, of course, Mrs. Canoles herself, by going on a ten-day trip to visit their two daughters and sons-in-law. First they went to Reno where they were the guests of their eldest daughter, Carol, and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. John Magaldi. After spending five days with the Magaldis, they started back, stopping in Richmond to visit Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Zanetta. Mrs. Zanetta is the former Pat Canoles, recently married in Carmel. Mr. and Mrs. Canoles got back home last Saturday.

Mrs. Canoles had hoped to round out 40 years of dancing and dance instruction, but was persuaded by Mr. Canoles that retiring this year would be better. After 23 years of teaching, 18 of them in Carmel, she plans just to relax for the next year around the house, take care of her garden, and go on some motor trips. Her studio, which has seen mothers and their daughters come to take ballet, tap, and Spanish dancing lessons, is being used as a center by several dance teachers in the vicinity.

Mrs. Canoles, or June Delight, has produced many dance programs on the Peninsula during her two decades in Carmel. Almost every year she has put on a recital in Sunset Auditorium and produced the Carmel Mission pageants over the past three years. Her repertoire, consisting of ballet, Spanish, tap and character dances, is the culmination of many years on the stage and in the movies, as well as of instruction by such leading teachers as Theodore Kosloff of the Los Angeles ballet and Elisa Cansino, Spanish dancer. She did musical comedy with Oscar Hammerstein in New York and worked with Annette Kellerman for Keith-Orpheum. De Mille's Ten Commandments and Huckleberry Finn are two of the many moving pictures she has appeared in, and her fellow artists in films include Marguerite Clark and Constance Talmadge.

How does it feel to drive a Buick?

If you think perhaps we're hinting that it would be a good idea for you to try out a Buick—mister, you've never been so right.

It does a lot of things for you and to you that will be something new in your driving experience.

Take the way it feels beneath your hands on the wheel—eager and willing and anxious to please.

It spurts when you want to spurt—rolls with effortless momentum when you want to cruise.

When you take a curve, it snugs down to the road with sure-footed confidence.

After you make a turn, the front wheels instinctively seek a straight course. This car seems to guide itself.

When you come to a bumpy stretch, each separate wheel on its own coil spring steps you smoothly along on a level keel.

Then there's power that surges into action at a nudge of your toe—sends your speedometer needle soaring up to any speed the law allows, in a matter of seconds.

And there is also thrift—the gas-saving thrift that comes from a high-compression valve-in-head Fireball Engine found in no other car.

To top all this, there is Dynaflo Drive*—that feeds power in a steady, falterless flow—lets you ride relaxed in busy traffic or on a day-long cross-country drive.

We're willing to stand on the statement that no other car rides, performs or drives like a Buick.

But why take our word for it? Come in—take over one of these lively lovelies—and see for yourself.

NO OTHER CAR PROVIDES ALL THIS:

Republican Women Meet

The Quarterly Meeting of the Northern California Council of Republican Women took place at Asilomar on September 19 and 20. Local and visiting members gathered for luncheon in Crocker Dining Hall at Asilomar, with the Monterey Peninsula Republican Womens Council acting as hostesses for the day. Mrs. Fred Vaughan, membership chairman, and Mrs. John Chitwood, treasurer, greeted members upon their arrival.

At the luncheon held the next day, Mrs. H. B. Kessler, president of the Northern Division, introduced Senator E. H. Tickle after welcoming all present. Mr. Tickle spoke briefly of his feeling of confidence in such a representative group of workers.

Mrs. Kessler next introduced the State President of Republican Womens Council, Mrs. L. P. Fuller; Mrs. Marjorie Benedict, national committeewoman; Mrs. Ethel Tibbot, state treasurer; Mrs. Edward P. James, program chairman of the Northern Division; Mrs. Carl Nuetzel, president of Carmel Women's Republican Club; Mrs. Harry B. Gantt, fourth vice-president of the Northern Division; Mrs. Florence Fletcher, city councilwoman of Oakland; Mrs. Buelah Cox, Northern Division auditor; Mrs. Mary G. Jasper, past state president; Mrs. Fred Weybret, wife of the state senator; son, hospitality chairman of Mrs. Mary Penlan, vice-president on Committee; Mrs. Ethel Fergus-Northern Division; and hospitality chairmen Mrs. Kathryn Lansdowne, Mrs. Edward McMurtry, and Mrs. E. H. Ewig.

After Mrs. Nuetzel greeted the gathering, Mrs. Kessler gave a short talk of the meeting as fittingly commemorating the 164th anniversary of the signing of the Constitution of the United States. She also commended various groups for the large turnout of members, including the San Lorenzo, Gilroy, and Salinas Alisal councils.

Mr. Jack Miller, state secretary of the Associated Farmers, gave a talk entitled "Why Do They Say, 'Communism Is Finished'?" After his talk, Mrs. Kessler spoke of need for renewed dedication to Constitution and to citizenship, saying that women are the last bulwark of our government.

This was second of two large meetings of Republican Women this month. On September 9, members met to greet Mrs. L. P. Fuller of Encino, their state president, who addressed the meeting and was presented to members at a tea and reception. Another honored guest at this meeting was Senator Fred Weybret, who spoke to the group and joined Mrs. Fuller in a question and answer period. Mrs. Carl Nuetzel presided and the board of directors acted as hostesses for the reception held at the Carmel Womens Club which was decorated with autumn flowers for the occasion. The refreshment committee was headed by Mrs. E. H. Ewig.

Pope's Penthouse Pineless

A rousing event of Monday morning was the cutting down of the pine tree in front of Pop Smith's aerie on Seventh Street near Delores. Emerging upon his new, broad view of Carmel, Pop says that he feels almost indecently exposed up there in his penthouse now. He expects his zinnias, thwarted by acid soil for the past ten years he has lived in the penthouse, to blossom forth when he has cleared away the pine needles for the last time.

Junipero Serra Men's Club

The regular monthly meeting of the Junipero Serra Men's Club is October 9. All fathers of children in the Carmel Mission School are asked to attend. The club has undertaken the raising of funds to equip properly the school's playground, according to William Woolsey, acting president. A bingo card party is being sponsored the third Tuesday of each month. Other plans for dances, dinners, and socials will be up for discussion at the meeting, to be held in the hall behind the Mission at 8 p.m.

Future Resident

Hoping to retire soon and come here to live in a house on San Antonio is Dr. Fred L. Farley, now in his thirty-fourth year with the College of the Pacific where he is dean of graduate studies. Dr. Farley has been a frequent visitor at the home of his colleague, Charles E. Corbin, retired professor of mathematics at the College of the Pacific, whose cottage Aftermath is on Dolores Street.

Dr. Farley is the author of a song, "Pacific! Pacific!" honoring his alma mater, which appeared in the Pacific Review edition of the college's centennial year bulletin.

Major Leslie at Travis

Major Edgar C. Leslie, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Leslie of Ocean Avenue and Highway 1, recently arrived at Travis Air Force Base from duty in Japan and has been named executive officer for the 72nd Strategic Reconnaissance Squadron.

With Major Leslie at Travis are his wife and three children. The family formerly lived in Carmel. Major Leslie was a student at Salinas Junior College. In World War II, he served as a transport pilot in the China-Burma-India theater and on the Trans-Pacific route for the Military Air Transport Services. Released from active duty in 1946, he was ordered back into duty August 6, 1950, received B-29 combat training and flew combat missions over Korea.

Delta Kappa Gamma Meeting

The picnic and opening meeting of Delta Kappa Gamma, national honor society for women in education, was held September 27 on the W. J. Rhyner ranch in San Benancio Canyon. Members were welcomed by a real autumn fire and delicious coffee boiling in pots, courtesy of Miss Eileen Brereton, Miss Virginia Johnson, Miss Gertrude Rendtorff, Miss Eleanor Ziel, and Mrs. Robert Peterson, refreshment committee.

After the supper, Miss Eleanor Ziel, the president, conducted the business meeting which included the purchase of community concert tickets to be rotated among school students of the communities represented by membership in Delta Kappa Gamma; and plans for sending parcels to the needy in Korea. Also planned is an opening meeting to greet all women entering the teaching profession. This is scheduled for Saturday, October 25.

Those present included the state vice-president, Elise de Celles (Mrs. Matthew) Beaton; Dr. Luelia Hall, junior past president; Miss Alleena Luther, a guest; and the following members:

The Misses Ann Appajolu, Harriet Baker, Eileen Brereton, Nell Cravens, Virginia Gilbert, Virginia Johnson, Vivian Kernohan, Anne Olson, Helen Purl, Gertrude Rendtorff, Helen Ward, Gertrude Waterman, Grace Widemann, Aletha Worrall, Eleanor Ziel.

Mesdames L. Bourns, Marcia Frisbee DeVoe, L. A. Downey, Mary L. Greene, F. Grigsby, Sylvia Jordon, R. Petersen, F. H. Pogge, Geo. Richie, J. P. Tarver, L. Taylor.

Music Teachers Association

The first fall meeting of the Music Teachers Association, Monterey County branch, was a luncheon on Monday in the Forest Hill Hotel. Program plans were discussed, and two new members, Mr. Robert Forbes and Mr. Wade Parks, were welcomed into the organization.

The next meeting will be held jointly with the Santa Cruz County group in Watsonville, at the Monterey Bay Academy, on October 22 at 8:00 o'clock. Any music teacher wishing to become a member may call 7-4390.

Wayfarer Women To Entertain

The Women's Auxiliary of the Church of the Wayfarer will entertain the Woman's Auxiliary of the Santa Episcopal Church at a program and tea next Tuesday afternoon at 2:00 o'clock. An address will be made by Dr. R. Marvin Stuart, Minister of the First Methodist Church of Palo Alto, who has just returned from three months in Europe as a member of the Sherwood Eddy Seminar.

The tea, an annual affair held for the second time, will be served by a committee headed by Mrs. Charles H. Burrill, Mrs. K. Fillmore Gray, and Mrs. David Askew.

Forest Hill Program

"School is in full swing but memories of happy days at summer camp linger on," comments Anne Douglas, director of Forest Hill School. On August 31, there was a program entitled When the Cat's Away the Mice Will Play. It was skillfully directed by Jill Viney. Mrs. Betty Drummond of Fresno had trained the children in speech and drama all summer. The exercises, recitations and songs delighted the large audience of parents and friends, who were especially delighted with our tiger-yearlings in orange and black striped suits with realistic tiger masks.

Children taking part in the program were Timothy Fife, Arthur Thomas, De Neale Morgan, Jill Viney, Roger Pfaff, Don Knudler, Gail Jones, Cece Pfaff, Janet Paehlig, Karen Ralke, Michael Mitchels, Frank Merrill, Lynn Thomas, Johnnie Clark, Susan Garbler, Laurie Dodd, Ockie Anman, Johnnie Pelton, and Jimmie Clark.

Arrives in Paris

Mr. Lawrence Morris, who has lived in Carmel at intervals during the last 20 years, has left government service in Washington, D. C. for a European appointment. He and his wife this week arrived in Paris, where Mr. Morris has been put in charge of cultural relations with France at the American Embassy in Paris. His present appointment is for two years.

Vada Visits

Jean Varda and Gavin Arthur drove down from San Francisco last Saturday and were guests of Mrs. Marie Short over the week end. A beach party attended by droves of people was held in their honor on Saturday night, and on Sunday Mrs. Short, Mr. Varda and Mr. Arthur were luncheon guests of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Geisen.

Jean Varda expects to be back around December 1, when he is to have a one-man show at the New Group Gallery.

Edgertons Visit

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Edgerton returned recently for a few months' stay in their home in Carmel. They left last June to teach at the Instituto Mexicano-Norteamericano de Relaciones Culturales at Mexico City, where they have classes in square and folk dancing. They also instructed dancing classes at the University Club and at Mexico City College, and have held dances for the Americans colonies and the Mexicans in Tasco and Cuernavaca.

Party for Mrs. Mettler

Mrs. and Mrs. Don Borden gave a dinner party in their home on Monte Verde Street recently. Guest of honor was Mrs. Vernon Mettler, whose birthday it was. Besides Mr. and Mrs. Mettler, of Bakersfield and Carmel, some of the other guests were Mr. Said Riza, Major and Mrs. John O. Simpson, Mr. and Mrs. Steve Crouch, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Borden, Mrs. Emma Evans and daughter, Mrs. Benjamin Kercheval, Mr. Leslie Emery, Mrs. Laura Hoffman, and Lieutenant John Willis.

Webster Street Entertains

Mr. Webster Street gave a cocktail party last week at his home for his mother, Mrs. Ora Hadden, and his sister, Mrs. Deborah Cassidy, both of whom have been his guests during the week. Attending the party were Mr. and Mrs. Peter Ferrante, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Vial, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Dixon, Mr. and Mrs. George Willox, George Kincannon and her mother, Mrs. Elgin Kincannon and sister, Mrs. David Henning of Salinas, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Vial, Richard Wright, and Lois Dunham, Mrs. Haddon and Mrs. Cassidy are from Verdugo City in southern California.

Red Cross To Meet

Election of officers and board members for the coming year will take place at the annual membership meeting of the Carmel Chapter of the American Red Cross on October 10 at 2 o'clock in the Carmel Woman's Club house. Financial and service reports for the preceding year will be given.

Mr. William H. Spuck, assistant regional director for the Pacific area of the Red Cross will be the speaker. Following the business meeting and the talk by Mr. Spuck, there will be a program of recognition of volunteers who served regularly during the past year. Tea will also be served.

Exhibits will be on display and there will be a recruitment desk to continue enrollment of volunteer workers so urgently needed at this time.

Nini Moulder Wed

On Saturday afternoon in the Church of Notre Dame des Victoires in San Francisco, Miss Kathleen (Nini) Moulder and Jerczy Bczykowski were married. The Reverend Louis LeBihan, S.M., officiated.

The bride was given in marriage by her father, Malcolm Moulder. Her wedding gown of heirloom Irish point lace was princess-styled, with a long train. A crown of seed pearls secured her full-length tulle veil. She carried a muff of white stephanotis and valley lilies surrounding chartreuse orchids. Her attendants were Mrs. Paul Albert Miller, matron of honor, Jane Murray and Janet Foley. Their gowns were of green and brown organza with matching stoles. The gold and bronze Fuji chrysanthemums they carried blended with the autumn colors of the church, which was decorated by arrangements of chrysanthemums.

Felix Pallavicini was best man. Ushers were the bride's brother, Walter Moulder, and Paul Albert Miller.

A reception was held at the home of the bride's grandmother, Mrs. Walter B. Cope, whose Union Street home carried out the autumn motif in yellow, brown, and chartreuse flowers. Following the reception, the couple left for a honeymoon on the Monterey Peninsula, after which they will drive to Montreal, where the bridegroom is associated with an American copper company.

The bride's mother, Mrs. Anne Cope Moulder, wore a dress of black lace over white satin, with hat of white ostrich tips. Mrs. Cope wore a black velvet suit with white lace bodice.

Nini is the granddaughter of Mrs. Charlotte Clark, of the late Augustus B. Moulder, and the late Judge Cope. She graduated from Dominican Convent in 1946, having previously attended Sunset School in Carmel. Before coming here to live, Nini had spent most of her life in Europe. She later attended Hollins College in Virginia. She made her debut in the San Francisco Cotillion of 1947. When the family returned to Carmel to live, Nini attended Salinas Junior College. She later attended the University of Lausanne while the family was living in Europe.

The bridegroom is the son of Lucien Byczkowski, member of a distinguished Polish family, and the late Hedwige Byczkowski. His grandfather is the eminent Polish jurist, Antoni Byczkowski. He studied at the University of Vienna, the University of Lausanne, and the University of Geneva.

All Saints' Musicales

The Woman's Auxiliary of All Saints' Church in Carmel is planning an evening of good music, song and fellowship tonight at 8:00 o'clock in the Parish Hall.

Mrs. D. MacMillan Kerr, program chairman, will be in charge, presenting Thomas L. Griffin, director of music and youth activities at All Saints', who will offer a surprise musical performance.

Refreshments will be served under the chairmanship of Mrs. William Crain and Mrs. Phillip Preble. Families and friends of the church are invited to participate in this social evening.

La Causerie Francaise

Meeting September 28 at Carmel High School, 50 French-speaking residents of the Peninsula organized La Causerie Francaise, which will hold monthly meetings for French conversation and programs devoted to French culture. Officers elected for the coming year are Edgar Bissantz, president, Mrs. August Armanasco, vice-president, Miss Sophie Harpe, secretary, Mrs. Joseph Johnston, Jr., treasurer.

Individuals interested in membership in the society are invited to write La Causerie Francaise, Box U-1, Carmel.

Carmel Woman's Club

Japan, the Philippines, India, and Israel were some of the countries discussed by Merrill Mueller, NBC commentator, in the report of his 'round the world tour made at the opening meeting of the Carmel Woman's Club on Monday. Regarding the Philippines, Mr. Mueller said that there is considerable disappointment and economic chaos there since responsibility has not yet been taught the people, but the country is slowly being rebuilt. Japan, he said, was booming industrially. In Israel there is not sufficient food for the great numbers of immigrants, although expansion of the settlements is rapidly being carried on. Going on to Europe, Mr. Mueller spoke of the 14 per cent increase in living costs, low wages, and the help being given by the Marshall Plan.

A capacity audience attended the meeting. Mrs. Barbara Murphy, president, announced the rummage sale has been set for October 29, and that contributions may be left Monday mornings at the club house or will be picked up by arrangement by telephone, 7-3846 or 7-7736.

The first meeting of the card section will be held October 11 from 1:00 to 4:00 o'clock.

Tea was served by Mrs. C. Gilbert Campbell and her co-workers, Mrs. Malcolm Woods, Mrs. Raymond Smith, Mrs. Emeline P. Parker, Mrs. Ian L. Belangee, Mrs. Edna Burgess and Mrs. Arthur Clay. Mrs. Murphy and Mrs. F. E. Vaughn presided at the tea table.

At USAF Institute

First Lieutenant John J. Schmitt, Jr., whose wife, Elsa, is the daughter of Colonel and Mrs. W. H. Jones of Pebble Beach, recently began study in Armament Engineering at USAF Institute of Technology, Wright-Patterson AF Base, Dayton, Ohio. The Institute conducts officer education in advanced scientific and technical fields.

Lt. Schmitt is a graduate of West Point, where he received his B.S. degree in 1946. Lt. and Mrs. Schmitt have two sons, John B., aged 4 and Michael, 2. He came to the Institute from Davis-Monthan AF Base, Tucson, Arizona.

Honoring Dr. and Mrs. Crile

A cocktail party introducing her son and daughter-in-law, Dr. and Mrs. Michael Crile, was given by Mrs. Mary Crile at her home on Saturday afternoon. Guests were Dr. and Mrs. Walter Lehmann, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Campbell, Dr. and Mrs. Talcott Bates, Dr. and Mrs. Eric Berne, Mr. Henry Dickinson, Mr. and Mrs. Fredrick Farr, Dr. Friedy Heisler, Mr. and Mrs. Worthington Holliday, Dr. and Mrs. Bruno Klopfer, Mr. H. Lowenhaupt, Dr. and Mrs. James Niebel, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Pedder, and Dr. and Mrs. Jesse Feiring Williams.

In Sierra

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Vial and Mr. and Mrs. George Wilcox returned this week from the Sierra, where they spent four days in the cabin belonging to the Paul Shattucks. They found plenty of deer "in the Park thumbing their noses at us", according to Jane Vial.

Flavins to San Francisco

Mr. and Mrs. Martin Flavin with Mrs. Flavin's aunt, Mrs. Edmund Dexter of Los Laureles, made a trip to San Francisco this week, and will stay to see the opera Boris Godounoff on Sunday.

Miss Flavia Flavin has taken the George Vye house on the Mission tract and will move in today.

Honored At Dinner

Albert F. Randolph of Pescadero Road was honored at a dinner given Monday evening at the Fairmont Hotel, San Francisco, by Malcolm Adam, president of Penn Mutual Life Insurance Company, in recognition of Mr. Randolph's attainments in production and service to policy-owners. Mr. Randolph is a member of the Forrest J. Curry agency in San Francisco.

Ford Grandchild Leaves

After celebrating his fourth birthday on October 4 with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Byington Ford of Carmel Valley, Richard Lindgren will be leaving the Ford home, where he has been staying the past month. His grandmother, Mrs. Ford, is driving him to Los Angeles the following day where he will join his mother, Mrs. Ro Lindgren, at home.

Kvenilds To Entertain

On Saturday evening at their home on San Juan and Portola Streets, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Kvenild will entertain friends with a cocktail party. Guests will be Mr. and Mrs. Mark Raggett, Mr. and Mrs. Charles McHarry, Mr. and Mrs. Robert McGinnis, Mr. and Mrs. Byron Blout, Mr. and Mrs. Roderick Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Porter, Mr. and Mrs. John Morse, Mr. and Mrs. Mark Thomas, Mr. and Mrs. John Clancy, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Elston, Mr. and Mrs. Stafford Hughes, Dr. and Mrs. Roderick McArthur, and Mr. and Mrs. E. Y. Moore.

Jack Scraggs in U. S.

Jack Scraggs, seaman, USN, recently returned to the United States aboard the high speed transport USS Bagor, after operating more than 10 months in Korean waters.

Jack graduated from Carmel High School in 1948, and with his mother, Mrs. A. L. Scaggs, formerly lived on Ocean Avenue in Carmel.

The Bagor participated in the UN amphibious operation at Hungnam, and later transported a Navy underwater demolition team to make night reconnaissance and hit and run raids all along the Korean coast. As a part of the UN Blockading and Escort Force she took part in coastal bombardment of important Communist ports along the Korean east coast.

Cast Party

Last Friday evening a party for the Of Mice and Men cast and their friends was given by Miss Esther Fleharty in her home on Portola Drive. Max Gordon, editor of the Salinas Californian, and Virgil Mitchel of Salinas were guests who had attended the opening performance of the play. Members of the cast and their spouses present were Alan Grief, Bruce Ariss, Jack McDonough, Mr. and Mrs. Le Grande Dix, Mr. and Mrs. Stuart Harwood, Richard Kohn, Mr. and Mrs. Willard Branson, Dolph Tewes, and Nick Pappas.

Also at the party were the play's director, Mr. Forrest Barnes and wife; Jack Hilgers, the stage manager; Frances Brewer, Peggy Cease, and Mary McElroy.

Community singing was enjoyed by everyone during the evening.

Jennefer Lloyd Feted

Jennefer Lloyd, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Lloyd, whose marriage to Nathaniel Baylis will take place tomorrow was given a surprise shower by three of her young friends, Leigh McKinney, Nancie Brown and Betty Hendricks, at Leigh's home on September 21. Guests were Edelen Cory, Janet Hatton, Mary McElroy and her houseguest, JoNell Sharer, Sue Moore, Mary Gregory, Anne Bell, and Barbie Berg.

The wedding rehearsal party will be guests at a dinner party in the Pine Inn this evening, to be given by Cynthia Carr. A cocktail party in the Carr home will precede the dinner.

Reserve Officers Ladies Club

The Reserve Officers Association Ladies Club meets October 9 at Casa Munras, with dinner at 6:30 o'clock and the regular monthly meeting at 8:00 o'clock. Any wives of Reserve Officers Association members interested in joining the Ladies Club are invited to attend.

Coughlin Guests

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Fredrickson are visitors at the home of Dr. and Mrs. William Coughlin this week end, before moving from Palo Alto to Portland, Oregon. Mrs. Fredrickson, who graduated from San Jose College last June, is the former Jane Coughlin. Having passed his bar examination this week, Mr. Fredrickson will practice law in Oregon. He too, graduated in June from Stanford.

Carmel PTA Hears Speaker

The education of a child is a joint enterprise of the family and the school, Miss Helen Heffernan told her large audience at the October meeting of the Carmel PTA Tuesday afternoon. A good aim for a PTA, she said, is a deeper understanding of the basic human needs of children, who grow and learn best when their fundamental need for love and approval is satisfied.

In outlining desirable improvements for our schools, Mrs. Heffernan stressed the need to work for good teachers and "teacherable-sized" classes. Twenty-five children is the maximum that can be well-taught in one class, she said.

More well-equipped small neighborhood schools was another objective proposed by Miss Heffernan, who has worked with the California State Department of Education for 25 years, and recently spent two years in Japan as an advisor to the Japanese Government for reorganization of schools there. On leave next year, she will teach at Harvard University.

Other aims in education emphasized by Miss Heffernan were a good "life centered" curriculum—away from old-fashioned rote learning as exemplified by her own now-useless memorization of national capitals of Europe; family-life education at every level in the schools; educational opportunity for children from the age of three years, with parent-education a part of it, and a teacher-education program which trains teachers to work with parents as well as with children.

In describing the importance of early education, Miss Heffernan said that if we feel the best education is too expensive, we should re-examine our values. "Whatever this nation is twenty years from now will depend on the quality of education we give these little children now," she declared.

The meeting was preceded by a tea at which Mrs. Charles Fonteneau and Mrs. E. O. Hartley, both PTA members for 25 years or more, poured.

Hammond Organ Society

Meeting at the Highlands home of Mr. and Mrs. William B. Skowran Monday evening, members of the Hammond Organ Society, after a short business session, took turns at the console of the organ, James Farlinger opening the program with the Lord's Prayer. Refreshments were served later on in the evening.

A Hammond Organ Symphony Concert to benefit some worthy project is being planned for some future date. Membership in this organization is open to anyone interested in organ music. Please call Mabel Landaker, 2-0447.

American Legion Auxiliary

Carmel Unit 512, American Legion Auxiliary, will hold its first regular meeting of the year at Legion Hall next Tuesday evening at 8:00 o'clock. Mrs. Norman Winslow, president, announces. All qualified and interested in joining are invited to attend.

Monterey Council PTA

At the September meeting of the Monterey Peninsula Council of the Parent-Teacher Associations, Mrs. Richard Bagley of the Seaside PTA presided over the organization of the Mother Singer choral group which meets on Wednesday evenings in room 17, Sunset School, under the direction of Mr. John Farr. Mothers may still join the group. They need not be accomplished singers, Mrs. Bagley explained, the main requirements being a love of singing and a blending voice.

Mrs. Chase Proper, Larkin PTA, advised the council members of the current status of the 3 R's project, statewide program sponsored jointly by schools and the California Congress of Parents and Teachers. Information on the current Parent-Teacher Study Course was presented by Mrs. Wendell Wheaton, Noche Buena PTA.

The Pacific Grove High School PTA served as the hostess unit for the council meeting. The November Council meeting will be held in Walter Colton auditorium.

Blee Addresses Lions

Jim Blee, Sunset School teacher, who has been largely instrumental in promoting the Outdoor Living Program for the Sixth Grade, thanked the Lions at their dinner meeting Tuesday, for their financial assistance toward the project. One group of Sixth Graders go to Big Sur next Monday for a week of camp living, Blee said. During that period they will continue with their school studies as well as receive instruction in natural history and conservation. The following Monday, the second group will have their week of outdoor living.

Waldo Hicks, Dr. W. F. Coughlin, Vince Torras, Fred Hollenbeck and Reed Freeman were appointed to make arrangements for a ladies' night. Ernest Morehouse and Mike Balazs gave a report on Col. Roy Hillyer's speech at the Soledad Lions Club Thursday night.

Guests at the meeting were Britton H. Vliet, Salinas, and Lloyd Busby, Monterey.

Guests of Howell Armors

Commander and Mrs. Howell Armor are entertaining their daughter and son-in-law, Lt. and Mrs. James Douglas Rumble, and their grandsons, Jed and John Rumble, at their Carmel Woods home. Lieutenant Rumble has just received his degree in civil engineering from Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute near Troy, New York, and has been assigned to duty at the Navy Yard at Long Beach.

The Rumbles drove across the continent, arriving last Wednesday for a few days' visit with the Armors before establishing themselves at Long Beach.

Fred Godwin Goes Hunting

Fred Godwin left this morning to go deer hunting on the Bing Crosby ranch near Elko, Nevada.

Carol Whitesides

Funeral services were held yesterday in Stockton for Carol Whitesides, 13-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Whitesides of Stockton, who died Monday evening of complications ensuing from leukemia.

The family formerly lived in Carmel, where Mr. Whitesides was employed by the Monterey Trust and Savings Bank. They moved to Stockton about three years ago.

Besides her parents, Carol leaves a brother, Richard, 15, of Stockton; her grandparents, Colonel and Mrs. John Adamson of Mar Vista Drive, Monterey, and Mrs. John Whitesides, Sr., of Carmel.

Local Gas Rates Go Up October 24

Beginning October 24, gas and electricity rates will increase eight per cent more. An increase in gas rates was granted the Pacific Gas and Electric Company by the State Public Utilities Commission on Tuesday. The average householder will pay about 34 cents more each month, the percentage increase ranging from 7 to a little over 8 in this area, according to Arch Balchin, Peninsula manager of the PGE. Thirty-one northern and central California counties are subject to rate increases.

The company will have an additional revenue of $16,000,000, which will ultimately bring the company a 6.2 per cent rate return on its investment. It originally sought $18,158,000 in June, 1950, and on January 13, 1951 an interim emergency increase of 7 million was granted pending investigation and settlement Tuesday with an added 9 million dollars.

Elizabeth Smith

Mrs. Elizabeth D. Smith, a resident of Carmel for the past 18 years and a native of St. Louis, died at a local hospital on Wednesday morning. She was 44 years of age at the time of her death and had been an invalid for several years.

She leaves her husband, James W. A. Smith, whose business offices are in Monterey; two sons, Douglass and Donald Smith of Carmel; her mother, Mrs. John H. Douglass of Santa Barbara; a brother, Lt. John H. Douglass, USN, of Seattle.

Private funeral services for Mrs. Smith were held yesterday afternoon at 2:00 o'clock at Paul Mortuary, with burial in El Carmelo Cemetery in Pacific Grove. Contributions to the cancer fund, P.O. Box 102, Pacific Grove, may be made in memory of Mrs. Smith by her friends.

THE REV. LOVGREN'S SERMON

On Sunday at St. John's Chapel in Del Monte, the Rector, the Rev. Bernard N. Lovgren will use as the subject of his sermon at 11:00 o'clock the words of the Holy Communion service, "This Do in Remembrance of Me." He will discuss the "This", the "Do" and the "in Remembrance of Me" in its relation to the institution of the Lord's Supper. There will also be a service of Holy Communion at 8 a.m. The Canterbury Club for students and young adults will hold its fortnightly meeting in the Parish House at 8:00 o'clock. Following a short business meeting there will be an Open Forum and refreshments. The Church School will begin its sessions at 11:00 o'clock, the morning service hour.

CHRISTMAS CARDS AID SPCA

The Ave Maria Book Shop is inviting all to see its display of some very lovely handmade, hand-blocked Christmas cards, done by one of Carmel's most talented artists. The cards are being sold in aid of the S.P.C.A. Fund to rebuild the shelter.

This is a charity dear to all hearts, Eileen Grennan of the book shop points out, because it helps the most helpless, our animals. "And by the way," she asks, "wasn't it the animals who came first to the Crib where the Christ Child lay?"

TALENT NEEDED

The USO on Webster Street sponsors a Variety Show every Sunday evening at 8:00 o'clock. The show is solicited not only from military personnel, but also civilians. Talented civilians on the Peninsula who would like to contribute an act on Sunday evening are asked to dial 5-4155. Any group or organization having a show which runs anywhere from forty-five minutes to an hour, who would like to volunteer a program unit for an evening are urged to phone for a date.

Wakefield Tells Kiwanis Of Plans For Little League

(Continued from Page One) managers for the choice of 18 boys as his players, 12 to be his first string, and six in reserve. It is hardball played on a two-third size diamond, six innings, with an 80-minute limit on the total game. The play is a two-month series in each league, then a Peninsula Play-off for Zone Champs, then Regional playoffs. Last year San Bernardino won and went East to the championship play in Williamsport, Pa.

Salinas has two leagues of four teams each sponsored by organizations, clubs and business firms.

People interested in helping the Little League movement on the Peninsula, either in offering their services or sponsorship, should get in touch with Jimmy Wakefield in Pacific Grove or Jack Giles at the Carmel Youth Center.

Election of officers was held; Tom Elston, president; Carl Patnude, vice-president; Arne Halle, treasurer. Directors: Bill Aldous, Gene Harrah, Don Sands, Ed Neroda, John Ruster, Frank Putnam, and Harold Nielsen.

Visiting Kiwanians were Abe Leach, Oakland; Mel Wood, San Luis Obispo, Mervin Fair, Monterey, and Fong Jing, Monterey, Lieutenant Governor for this division. Other visitors were Mrs. Carl Patnude; Mrs. Lillian Hollingsworth, Angelo de Maria, Art Minors and Doug Rumble.

Bay Rapid Asks Increase In Fares

An increase in bus fare on the Peninsula is being sought by the Bay Rapid Transit Company. A hearing before the California Public Utilities Commission is expected in about six weeks, according to Harold Harper, manager of the bus company. The company is asking that its basic rates be upped from ten cents to fifteen cents, and tokens be sold 4 for fifty cents.

The Monterey-Carmel fare would be 25 cents under the proposed arrangements, as it was before the rate was reduced in 1932. Harper says no increase is contemplated, so far as he knows, on the Carmel local, and that he personally is against it. Whether or not the bus fares go up will not be known for some time, since the commission cannot be expected to give its decision until two or three months after the hearing, according to Mr. Harper. The company claims that with all possible economies practiced, it has been operating at a loss for the past three years.

Birthday Luncheon

To celebrate her birthday, Lucy Carmalt invited several of her friends to a luncheon at the Carmalt home on Mesa Drive, September 22. Her guests were Robin Burnham, Joan Hamilton, Judy Silverthorne, and Susan Costagna.

Nemo, the bouncing Boxer, has been our guest for a month. He's two years old, brindled, and an athlete. Riding, cycling, swimming and outdoor games leave him cold. The high jump is his thing. To him, walls and fences are so many hurdles to be taken in stride. ("Should be a horse," he says. "I'd win the Grand National.")

It was the fence, at his Hatton Fields home, that led to his disgrace. "It used to sort of dare me," he relates. "Finally I'd jump it just to be rid of the urge." Once outside, he'd gravitate to the Carmel stores and, the city ruling against window-shopping dogs being what it is, he'd be picked up by the SPCA truck and brought here. Fetched home, in due course, by his folks, he'd find himself once more back behind the fence. The sequence became a kind of routine. "You'd think they'd get used to it, wouldn't you?" he mused. Instead, his folks decided they'd been through it often enough and Nemo must find a new home. He should look, they advised him, for wide open spaces — a farm or a ranch — far from shops.

Here, after spending a month in the pen built for Fagan the lion, which is wired over the top, Nemo's just about fit to be tied. "Every day I get more jumpy," he told me. "Think I'll run an ad under 'Situations Wanted.' How about: 'Magnificent, pure-bred Boxer, likes children, good mixer, alert, seeks home . . . ' " "No punch," I said, cutting him short. "An ad must hit the reader with a wallop. Why not start with a headline, in caps: 'FRANTIC BRIDEGROOM SAWS UP MOTHER-IN-LAW,' and a sketch: mother-in-law in pieces; bride, in background, tearing her hair; young man, eyes popping, dangling saw. Then below, in small print: 'Pure-bred Boxer, nice disposition, excellent references . . . etc.' " "I can't see how the two themes tie in," he objected. "They don't need to, silly! You fix attention any way you can then say your piece, that's all. Of course, if you want style, you can always work up a link. As: 'Wouldn't YOU be frantic if you were a pure-bred, fun-loving Boxer, needing a home, and confined . . . ' " "But who'd do the sketch? I never took Art in school." "To do a drawing," I replied, trying to be patient, "you don't have to know how to draw." "Really?" he murmured. "To me, it's all a new field."

For a moment or two he was silent, plunged in thought. "I believe you have something," he said at last. "But we'll find a stronger, less hackneyed headline. Your chap sawing up his mother-in-law is a bit tame, don't you think?"

I could see he was beginning to catch on. —Sappy the Mutt

SUMMER VACATIONS

This summer I was in a play at the Barn Theatre. The name of the play was The Great Big Doorstep. It was laid on the banks of the Mississippi River. It was known as the "cajun" country. The "Big Doorstep" floated down the river and this family pulled it up on the banks. They always hoped to have a house to match the steps.

The play was all about this family. My brother and I played the twins. We had such a good time. After the rehearsal, the Hall family would have us all over for cake and cocoa. They were in it too.

After the last night, we went to a party at the Los Laureles Lodge with all the grown-up members of the cast. We hope next summer to be in another. —Susan Trewett

Last summer, Lucy Williams and I went hiking in the hills across the street from the hospital. We packed our lunch and went on our way.

When we were on the hills, we saw some cows. Then we cut across to another hill and we saw some more cows.

We walked down the hill and ate lunch. In case we would get hungry, we saved some food. I saved

We went on our way again up the hill. We went along a way and we found a dirt road. So, we followed it. We came to some cows in a little yard with a fence around it. There were three little calves and a mean old bull. He was very fat and he had very curly hair. We sang songs to them and tried to make friends with them.

Bambi, Lacey's dog, barked at the cows and made them run around. Bambi thought he was boss around there.

We stayed there a long time so we decided to go home. When we were on our way home, we stopped at a house and got some cookies and water. Then, we went to another house and got some water and so did Bambi.

When we got home, we played we fell asleep and started laughing.

We had lots of fun. —Roxana Way

This summer our family and some of our friends went to Big Sur for four days. As soon as we got there my Mom cracked her rib.

One of the tents would not go up.

Next Kent, who is a friend, cut his toe very badly. Then a little girl fell in the water and hit her head. Then another girl cut her foot.

The next day, I sprained my ankle. A boy came to our camp with his new coat. Then he was on some rocks and fell in the water!

We went home in a jeepster. We had a lot of fun. —Mike Raggett

Last summer I went to Balboa to stay with my girl friend who was staying there for the summer. Her family asked me to stay with them for one week.

I went on the train from Salinas to Los Angeles. When I got off the train, my girl friend's family met me.

We went to a very famous street in Los Angeles for dinner. The street was a little Mexican street called Olivera Street. All the things they sell there were brought from Mexico.

They have thousands of jumping beans on big plates jumping up and down.

We saw some shoes that were made very well. They were made out of leather.

The next day we looked for shells at the beach. We went swimming in the bay and ocean because it was warm.

We went to Penny Arcades.

We saw many huge fish the fishermen had caught.

On the very last day of my stay, we went on a boat that took us all around the Islands out to the ocean and back. We saw five seals on the trip.

The next day I had to go home. I took the airplane back. I had a nice talk with the chief pilot.

When I got off at Monterey my family met me. It was surely good to be on the ground and home again. —Suzanne Pilot

At The Movies . . .

Hill Theater is offering considerable variety in its week's bill starting tonight. A double bill of some promise, playing through Monday with a matinee scheduled for Sunday only, is the J. A. Rank film The Smugglers, and the very old Hollywood filming of Bridge of San Luis Rey. The British film is from a novel by Graham Greene and is otherwise remarkable mainly for its excellent cast, which includes Michael Redgrave, the incomparable Joan Greenwood, and the vastly beautiful Jean Kent. It is in Technicolor. The movie version of Thornton Wilder's novel, made circa 1929, has also a notable cast, including Lederer, Bari, Nazimova and Tamiroff.

The new (and comprehensible) Cocteau film, The Storm Within opens at the Hill Tuesday for a three-day run, having just concluded a five-week run at the Clay in San Francisco. Much of the success of this movie is doubtless due to the audience's delight in being at least able to understand what's happening in a Cocteau film without any loss of Cocteau's subtlety or wit. A short version of Barber of Seville, with Tito Gobbi, will accompany the French film at the Hill.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCH

The Christian Science Lesson-Sermon for Sunday, October 7, on he subject "Unreality" will include the following verses from the First Psalm:

"Blessed is the man that walketh not in the counsel of the ungodly, nor standeth in the way of sinners, nor sitteth in the seat of the scornful. But his delight is in the law of the Lord; and in his law doth he meditate day and night. And he shall be like a tree planted by the rivers of water, that bringeth forth his fruit in his season; his leaf also shall not wither; and whatsoever he doeth shall prosper."

One of the correlative passages from the Christian Science textbook "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, will read:

"A knowledge of the Science of being develops the latent abilities and possibilities of man. It extends the atmosphere of thought, giving mortals access to broader and higher realms. It raises the thinker into his native air of insight and perspicacity" (p. 128).

RED + NEWS

Volunteers for all branches of service in the American Red Cross are urgently needed by the Carmel Chapter. Classes are being organized at this time for training for Gray Lady service, nurse's aides, staff aides and motor and canteen corps.

An orientation course, required for all branches of Red Cross volunteer service, is scheduled for the morning of October 12, from 9:30 to 12:00 o'clock. Anyone interested in Red Cross activities is invited to attend.

The Gray Lady training course, previously planned for the first week in October, will be given instead on October 9 and 10 and the morning of October 12.

It is suggested that anyone who has had previous training as a nurse's aide or as staff aide register with the Carmel Chapter. Needs in these branches of the service are urgent owing to an increase in the blood program at Fort Ord. New classes in training are being arranged for and those who wish to enroll may do so at the Carmel Chapter house, 8th and Dolores.

Those interested in the newly organized motor and canteen corps are asked to make application before the beginning of the classes which will start in October.

Coach Randol Has All-Turk Team; 2 Spittoon System

Carmel, California
October 3, 1951.

Mrs. Wilma Cook, Editor
Carmel Pine Cone
Carmel, California
Dear Wilma:

I quote Bud Spencer of the San Francisco News, October 1, 1951 regarding the Stanford-San Jose State game.

"Kerkorian passed to Hugasian and the pass was intercepted by Chagonjian and was tackled by Manoogian." Humph!

May I knot (an hour) give a bit of advice on how to make the Big Stanford Red machine click to inter-sectional honors?

Under cover (sotovoce) I have been coaching a sturdy bunch of Turks on the Peninsula, and not to appear sneaky I think sports editors of the Pacific Coast newspapers should be advised of my good intentions, so I therefore respectfully present my team's personnel. I herewith expose the lineup.

Offensive team:

Mohammed	Center
Ali Akbar	Right Guard
Bismillah	Right Tackle
Ben Ali	Right End
Ahbu Ben Abend	Quarterback

Achilles Fullback (unless he pulls a tendon)
Murad Left End (a non-chalant pass catcher)

Note: We employ the two spittoon system. Our motto is "Mecca touchdown." We usually win the flip of the coin and face to the east.

For our officials we would like to suggest the following:

Headlinesmen: Samson & Delilah.
Umpire: Dink Templetonian
Referee: Ali Khan

Drum Major: Rita Hayworth
I am assured that the Elysian Fields will be open to us at any date.

Now, for our defensive lineup:

"Cowboy" Jimmy Dowd	Center
"Durocher" McKinstry	R.G.
"Cock-Hat" Corum Jackson	L.G.
"Conwad" Bill Mahar	R.T.

Derek Rayne-in-the-face
(Lord of the Paris Garter) L.T.

"Choo-Choo" Billy Brown, Quarterback

"Blackie Mac" Millard Right Half

"Cypress West" Jenkins Fullback

Backfield Coach: Silent Knight (Mare of Carmel)

Team Scout: "F.B.I." Cliff Cook

Trainer: "Skeeter" Alex Gibson

Water Boy: Pong Chung.

Incidentally, we have been assured the services of Dr. Fillmore "Heel Toe" Gray for pep talks to the boys between halves.

Francis V. Randol, D.D.S.
Very sincerely yours,
Head Coach.

GIRL SCOUTS MEET

A color film taken this summer at the Girl Scout Camp Nacimiento near Jolon was the feature of the quarterly meeting of Monterey Peninsula Council Girl Scouts last week at the Carmel Girl Scout House. Lonnie Annand was commentator. Mrs. James Kirby gave a talk on troop organization and

Mr. Albert Lester, chairman of the Community Chest Drive, urged all adult members to assist with the campaign.

Mrs. Peter Brandau, council president, announces that several local women are needed as troop leaders and assistants, especially for new second grade Brownie troops and for fourth and fifth grade troops. Anyone interested is asked to call Mrs. Lloyd Miller, 7-7709, or Mrs. Walter Burde, 7-3986.

Howard Timbers inquiring if the city were under the same restrictions as the citizen in commercial construction—Timbers objects to the appearance of a new shed on city property adjacent to his own—City Attorney Tom Perry said that the city council was bound by the same restrictions on commercial buildings that it imposed on private individuals, but that it was not required to submit plans to the planning commission, since the latter is a body subservient to it. The councilmen thought that the planning commission should be consulted, and instructed city officials to submit all city building plans to the commission in the future.

the sales tax might actually bring that much-sought-for tourist dollar, or what is left of it."

Petition circulation is now going into the house to house stage, Whitaker says, and expressed his surprise at the number of residents who are not registered voters, including a few who have protested loudly against the sales tax. "Perhaps the American Legion should include registration as an important job to be done, as well as getting the voters out at an election."

He adds that house to house results so far show most in favor of eliminating the sales tax, and that more registered voters are needed to carry the petitions around. "It is an interesting way to meet the people, including the next door neighbor, who have lived next to you for years, and still be a stranger." He adds that people who circulate petitions will be doing a public service, pointing out that the petitions do not repeal the sales tax, but force the city council to put it on a ballot, where the people will have a chance of making their will known. Taxes are getting out of the hands of the people, and the only way to get them back into control is by citizens making use of their constitutional rights, the initiative and referendum.
